Rules of Thumb:

- Take note of the general rules of thumb for round and rectangle/square tables (allow approximately 24" aisle space and give each person about 24" of the table's perimeter)
- Consider each function and plan spacing accordingly (e.g., will it be an hors d'oeurves and cocktail party or a full five-course dinner where servers will need extra room delivering plated meals, or is it an event where games or other table top activities will be taking place?
- Consider attire as part of the function (e.g., females will be wearing large poufy dresses) and give enough space accordingly
